

KEWALO HARBOR IS FAVORED FOR FISHING BOATS

Harbor Commissioners Will Investigate Place and Send Sampans Under New Rule

Consideration of the removal of fishing sampans from the harbor was taken up today by the board of harbor commissioners, with argument for and against the harbors of Kewalo and Kalia as places to which the boats may be removed.

Decision was finally made by the board to make an investigation tomorrow afternoon of the Kewalo harbor for the purpose of ascertaining how much dredging work will yet have to be done in order to make it capable of holding the sampans. It is thought that money may be used from the loan fund appropriation to prepare the place for use.

The Kewalo project is favored by the majority of the board because of the fact that Kalia is so far away from where the fishermen wish to deliver their catches.

The question of handling gasoline, distillate, and oil on the wharves when supplying it to launches was also taken up with considerable discussion. It is alleged that much of the handling is done carelessly.

A letter from Hackfeld & Company, asking that the war-bound German steamer Setos be allowed to discharge lumber at the regular wharfage rate of $10 a day instead of at the higher discharge rate, was filed. A motion was made and passed to require the same payment from the Setos as is asked from other boats which unload cargo. A special meeting of the board will be held tomorrow night at 7:30.

HIGH COST OF LIVING DUE TO LOOSE CREDITS

High cost of living in Hawaii is due to the loose credit system which obtains among the merchants of the islands, according to N. B. Young, who spoke before the Ad Club at their luncheon today.

"Hawaii has the reputation of being easy," said Young, "and it is this reputation in a simple fashion. The tourist trade here is so largely the basis of business among the retailers that they are often forced to extend credit to people whom they cannot know are good payers. The result is that many of these bills go unpaid and the innocent people make up for the merchants' loss. This is a necessity of business."

"I know of one man who came to Hawaii and within three months had run up bills amounting to $3000. He went bankrupt. Six months later he had accumulated still larger bills with the very merchants who had seen him go bankrupt before. This may sound like careless business. It is more than that. It is criminal carelessness. It all comes back to you and me who pay our bills. We were making up that $3000 loss."

"Surely, credit must be extended. Statistics prove that 90 per cent of the business of the world is done upon a credit basis. But that credit must be extended carefully. Every man who carries a stock of merchandise carries insurance to cover it. Why does he not see that his customers are accredited on the books of a reputable commercial agency? Lost by fire in Honolulu is only a fraction of the loss which a firm incurs every year through loss of bills."

"Hawaii has been working along similar lines for a long time," said Young in conclusion, "and has depended upon one industry—sugar. Her businesses are all interwoven. But new businesses are knocking at the door. Shall we turn them away? The Great Northern has knocked. We received their representative with smiles and handshakes—but made the offer of not one dollar's worth of business. A steamship company cannot live on smiles—even Hawaiian smiles. It is just one of a long series of facts which prove that Hawaii is a great close corporation."

OPEN HOUSE WEEK AT 'Y' STARTING OFF WITH RUSH

The glad hand was extended last evening at the Y. M. C. A. to the guests who gathered from the local financial houses at the first open house meeting of the week. There were bankers, clerks, insurance men, trust company employees and other branches of the financial field representatives present, and all were given a hearty welcome by the members and officials of the association.

After a general "get acquainted" meeting in the lobby, the guests adjourned to Cooke Hall, and every seat was taken and a crowd stood around the room when the program began.

R. H. Trent of the Trent Trust company, who presided last evening, was a busy man from 7:30 until the crowd left for their homes. After the program in Cooke Hall, the guests were taken to the pool where they all enjoyed a swim. Games were played and impromptu races were scheduled, and the visitors were in their element as they jumped in and out of the tank and played the aquatic games that were on the program.

This evening the Y. M. C. A. will be hosts to the mechanics, public service and transportation men of the city. Carpenters, plumbers, electricians and all branches of the building trades will be represented, and the association especially asks all those who have not received an invitation to be present this evening.

Employees of the H. R. T. & L. the O. R. & L. and the Inter-Island Steam Navigation companies are invited to be present this evening. The men of the electric light and gas companies will also be included in this grouping.

BISHOP ESTATE MAY TRY EJECTMENT OF PRINCESS THERESA

Although no action was taken today in the local circuit court, it was reported upon good authority that the Bishop Estate doubtless will bring injunction proceedings against Princess Theresa Belliveau, formerly Wilson, familiarly known as Princess Theresa, in an endeavor to have stopped the work of erecting a garage on the corner lot at King and Richards streets, which is being directed by Princess Theresa.

Should the injunction proceedings be commenced it is the belief of many that a hotly contested legal battle will be the result. Princess Theresa claims right and title to the land through inheritance. On the other hand it is said that the Bishop Estate has held claim to the land during the last 30 years.

The work of erecting the garage on the lot in question, which is the vacant lot within of the Hawaiian Electric Company, was begun yesterday morning.

Today signs were posted about the place warning pedestrians not to cut across the property.

"German troops are victoriously advancing between Smorgon and Vishnev, where Gen. von Lindeghaus's army has thrown the Russians back behind Kormin and Putlovka."

"The volcano of Kilauea will again be proposed for a national park. A bill to be presented to the congress is the information carried in a letter from John R. Desha, secretary to Prince Kalaniana'ole, the Hawaiian delegate at Washington."

Mr. Desha has written to this effect in a letter to Raymond C. Brown, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. It is asked that all material concerning the volcano which might be of possible help in putting the bill through the legislature be forwarded to Washington. The purchase price of the park is not to exceed $50,000, according to the proposed bill. The matter from the Honolulu end will probably be handled by a special committee from the Chamber of Commerce.

YUAN WILL QUIT RATHER THAN BE MADE EMPEROR

Dr. Frank J. Goodnow Certain China's President Will Not Mount Imperial Throne

That Yuan Shih-kai, president of the Republic of China, has not changed his mind one particle concerning his determination not to accept the throne of China if the country goes back to the monarchical form of government, was asserted this morning by Dr. Frank J. Goodnow, president of Johns Hopkins University, and for the last year had a half legal adviser to the republic, who has just left Peking after working on the new constitution.

Seen by a Star-Bulletin reporter a few minutes before he and his family sailed for San Francisco on the Manchuria, Dr. Goodnow, on being asked what he thought of yesterday's Associated Press despatches that President Yuan Shih-kai has dropped his opposition to the monarchical form of government, made the following statement:

"I see no reason why President Yuan Shih-kai should change his mind, and I am sure he has not. He told me repeatedly that he believed the matter should be left to the constitution drafting committee, and yesterday's despatches show this is what has been done."

"Yuan said to me he would not accept the imperial crown of China even if the constitution drafting committee decided to resume the monarchical form of government."

"I am positive that he has not changed his mind, and that if the Chinese Republic does go back to a monarchy it will have to select someone else than Yuan Shih-kai for emperor, because he will not take the throne. I see no reason why he should have changed his mind in that regard. He is not opposed to the monarchical form of government, but is decidedly against being made emperor in case China does go back to the old system."

Dr. Goodnow added that he is returning to work. The trustees of Johns Hopkins University could have held me to my contract had they desired, he stated, "as I left on this last seven-weeks' trip to China as a legal adviser to the constitution drafting committee ahead of my contract. They were very good about the matter, though. I am glad to get back to my college activities, and look for a busy year."

This is the eminent educator's sixth visit to Honolulu. "Your city is a lovely place," he said, "and I am more charmed with its unexcelled scenery and climate every time I call here going to and from the Orient."

BLIND PIG OWNER LET OFF EASY ON PROMISE TO GO

Luck, spelled in big letters, today came to James F. Field, who recently was arrested by the police, sentenced to six months in Oahu prison in default of bail, and indicted by the federal grand jury—all on charges of selling liquor without a proper license.

The police charged Field with having committed two offenses, one of selling liquor without a license, and the other of keeping intoxicants for sale without the necessary permit. Field demanded a jury trial in each case, whereupon the matter were referred to the circuit court.

The cases were called in Circuit Judge Ashford's court today. Field pleaded guilty to both charges. He said he had nothing to say why sentence should not be pronounced. City Attorney Brown interrupted at this point and asked that, in view of the fact that Field now is serving sentence and that he had pleaded guilty, sentence be suspended for a period of 15 months.

"I understand that Field, after he finishes his prison sentence, intends to leave the territory and seek new fields," explained Attorney Brown. Field said he had no objection to Attorney Brown's suggestion, and Judge Ashford thereupon ordered a suspended sentence.

F-1 WILL BE READY TO LEAVE DRYDOCK BY TOMORROW NIGHT

Temporary repairs to the submarine F-1 will be completed in time for it to be floated out of drydock tomorrow, said Lieut. K. B. Crittenden, commander of the first submarine division, the F boats, today. The F-2 is expected to be in shape to go out of drydock late Friday or early Saturday morning.

"I am still waiting for word from Marie Island as to the sailing of the three submarine division, the K boats, for Honolulu," he said. "I have been waiting for a cable for several days, but have heard nothing as yet." After the K boats arrive the F-1, F-2 and F-3 will be towed to Marie Island navy yard for extensive repairs and alterations.

This afternoon the yeomen of the submarine tender Alert played the deck force. This is the first baseball game in which the yeomen have had a chance to try their diamond skill. Nelson and Clark were batteries for the yeomen, while the deck force's honors were upheld by Murphy and Snell.

CHARGE AYLETT WITH IMPROPER USE OF FUNDS

Superintendent of Garbage Accused of Keeping Idle Man on City's Payroll

Maintaining that R. W. Aylett, superintendent of the garbage department, has made improper use of public funds, and charging him with negligence in duty for having failed to report a case coming under his supervision for a period of five months, the ways and means committee of the city supervisors last night handed its report in to the board. The report was adopted.

The Aylett case dates back to last May, and has for the past several meetings been brought up for slight notice to the board. It has to do with one, A. R. Pimenta, a laborer in the city's garbage department, who was injured by one of the city automobiles, five months ago.

According to the report, Dr. L. R. Gaspar certified to Aylett on the day following the accident that the injured man would not be able to resume his duties for three or four weeks. Aylett in the meantime kept Pimenta on the payroll without consulting the supervisors in the matter.

In August, four months after the accident, Pimenta changed doctors, and Dr. Wayson, city physician, reported to Aylett that he did not think Pimenta's condition due to any injury received while in the employ of the city.

The report says that Aylett did not state this matter known to the board until September 27, which was five months after the accident had happened. Further than this, Aylett kept Pimenta on the payroll during the month of September, though informed in writing by the city physician that Pimenta had not suffered injury while in city employ.

"Improper use of funds," the committee holds therefore that Aylett has been negligent in his duties by failing to report the case, and that he has made an improper use of the public funds by keeping on the payroll the name of an injured employee long after the employee recovered from the effects of his injury. Aylett will be furnished with a copy of the report, and will be ordered to strike the name of Pimenta from his payroll at once.

Hinging directly upon the Aylett case a resolution was introduced at the meeting last night by Chairman Logan of the ways and means committee, relative to the carrying of the names of injured persons on the books of the city.

The resolution passed first reading and is as follows:

"Be it resolved by the board of supervisors of the city and county of Honolulu:

"That pending the adoption of rules and regulations for officers and overseers under the Workmen's Compensation Act, any accident causing injury to an employee of the city and county shall be reported to the clerk of the city and county on the expiration of 24 hours after such accident; and further that if disability of such employee as a result of such accident prevents him from reporting for work after the lapse of 24 hours following such accident, the name of such employee shall be stricken off the payroll until further order of the board of supervisors."

The report was signed by Supervisors Logan and Horner of the ways and means committee.

TOKIO CABLE QUOTES WILSON AS OPPOSING MONARCHY IN CHINA

(Associated Press despatches make no mention of the purported highly improbable news contained in the following cable from Tokio. Last week a Tokio cablegram asserted that Yuan Shih-kai had asked President Wilson's opinion on a change of the form of China's government.)

(Special Cable to Nippon Jiji) TOKIO, Sept. 29.—A cable from Peking says that President Wilson has given Yuan Shih-kai, president of the Chinese Republic, saying that he is not in favor of the restoration of the Chinese monarchy. This reply was received in answer to the cable of inquiry sent to the president by the head of the Chinese Republic.

KOREA WORKING TO RID HERSELF OF JAPAN'S YOKE

association is wor- wise and Ahn is president of the entire organization. Before Korea was subdued by Japan, Ahn was famous throughout the Hermit Kingdom, as its most eloquent speaker. He had mixed prominently in educational and political matters, and had given a great deal of careful study to political economics. By degrees his fame increased, and when the day came when Korea ceased to exist for the time as a separate and independent nation, Ahn, by the unanimous consent of the people, was raised to the position of guardian and preserver of their lost liberties. In a word, Ahn Chang Ho is today the man of the hour of the Korean people the world over, and 10,000,000 of his countrymen look to him in their time of stress.

Calls People "Subjugated."

"Feeling against the Japanese," said Ahn, yesterday. "No, there is no demonstration of that feeling—no demonstration which will draw the eyes of the world upon the country and make the story of the oppression a matter of common knowledge. There is no opportunity for such an expression of opinion. The Japanese have chosen that most skilful of all methods of subjugation: Not to make our injuries so great that we will rise in a revolt as furious as it would at the present time be hopeless; but not to allow us any means of expression for the national hatred which is rising so fast against the Japanese, than one startling article in a newspaper would raise the entire country in revolt."

"The Koreans are not allowed to meet together in large numbers for any purpose whatever, except under the strict surveillance of the Japanese. They are not allowed to make speeches upon questions of a doubtful political nature. As a result of this the people are going apart by themselves, and whispering about the old days when their country was free."

The steady smile continued on President Ahn's face, but behind his eyes came a dangerous gleam and a meaning glimmer as he spoke on:

Break Sure to Come.

"I know this at least, that when an oppressed people meet together and burn bonfires and throw tea off ships and crack bells in ringing them, they may become so excited that the hour of the revolt will come sooner, but when they gather in groups in the night and whisper together concerning old traditions and the new sorrows, there gradually grows up a spirit of deep and changeless patriotism which may express itself tomorrow, perhaps not for a generation, but the time will inevitably come when there will be a break between Korea and Japan."

President Ahn was asked several questions concerning the relations of the Koreans to China. He responded that the Chinese long ago had been the first people to work for the education and civilization of the Koreans, that since that time the influence of the Japanese had been felt, but that the sympathies of the Korean people were altogether with the Chinese, although they had at the present time little to learn from them. The impression which Ahn gives is that this is the great hour of preparation in Korea, and among Koreans all over the world. There is no division of opinion among them concerning the goals for which they are to work.

"Whenever you see a Korean," said Detective John W. of Arthur McDuffie's force, a man who for several years has been working among the criminals of Honolulu, "and wherever you see him, you may say to yourself:

There goes the heart of his country! Working For Harmony. Ahn has been for three weeks at work in Honolulu, working for harmony among his people. Today the great division of opinion which existed in the local branch of the Korean National Association since last spring, a division which has resulted in fights, both personal and legal, in accusations back and forth, in mutual recriminations—this fight which threatened the absolute existence of the society has today died out, he says. Only one more case is now before the courts and this case may be withdrawn in a few days.

Ahn Chang Ho has been here for the three weeks laboring to bring the two factions—the old and the new—together, and he has finally succeeded. President Ahn goes back to San Francisco in a short time, back to the headquarters of the national association to continue in his work.
